His search led to Jasmine Hart's mountain cabin in Lakeview, Virginia, where another woman had disappeared. A strong-willed widow, Jasmine didn't think the Lakeview Protector needed help. But when she realized someone was watching her, she knew she had to reach out. Eli Jennings, ex-military man, was drawn to Jasmine's cabin by the beauty of Lakeview and the challenge of protecting her. As they worked together to uncover the truth, they discovered that Lakeview was more than just a place— it was a refuge for those who needed it most.
