Law And Legal Information Directory: A Guide To National And International Organizations

Paul Wasserman Marek Kaszubski Gale Research Company

When you research international or foreign law, you will look for and use different types of information: laws, cases, and regulations from national. Directories can help you identify agencies and organizations that are active in an area. Directories include:

- National Organizations of the U.S. International Research Centers Directory.
- Law and Legal Information Directory.
- Melton's International Bibliography.
- Chambers global: the world's leading lawyers. Women in law: a bio.
- Private International Law Conflict of Laws: Rules dealing with relations among individuals that., guides and commentary on laws, international documents, directories, trade information, and statistics. Covers treaty research and international organizations.
- Handbook of national and international governmental and international organizations.