Mao's Great Famine: The History Of China's Most Devastating Catastrophe, 1958-1962

Frank Dikotter

Mao's Great Famine - Cato Institute
Mao's Great Famine - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Mao's Great Famine: The History of China's Most Devastating Catastrophe, 1958–1962 is the longest and most detailed study of China's Great Famine. It is based on over 15 years of research and is written in a clear and accessible style. The book provides a comprehensive account of the events that led to the Great Famine, including the policies of Mao Zedong and the impact they had on the Chinese population. It also examines the role of the Communist Party in the famine and the efforts to recover from it.

The book is highly recommended for anyone with an interest in Chinese history or the impact of famine on a nation. It is a rich resource for students and researchers alike. The author, Frank Dikotter, is an expert in Chinese history and has written extensively on the subject.

The book is highly recommended for anyone with an interest in Chinese history or the impact of famine on a nation. It is a rich resource for students and researchers alike. The author, Frank Dikotter, is an expert in Chinese history and has written extensively on the subject.
Great Famine: The History of China's Most Devastating Catastrophe, Great Leap Forward and it happened during 4 years, between 1958-1962.