Measuring Delinquency: A Study Of Probation Department Referrals

Joseph W. Eaton Kenneth Polk Los Angeles Region Welfare Planning Council

Recidivism is most commonly measured in terms of rearrests, referrals to court, within jurisdictions, and within probation and correctional agencies. Outcome data evaluations include impact studies, process studies, and cost-effectiveness.