The Aesthetics Of The Critical Theorists: Studies On Benjamin, Adorno, Marcuse, And Habermas

Ronald Roblin

Critical Theory constitutes one of the major intellectual traditions of the twentieth, for philosophy, political theory, aesthetics and the theory of art, the study of Theory, including Horkheimer, Adorno, Marcuse, Benjamin, and Habermas,