Anyone working with wildlife must be concerned with its habitat—its identification, measurement, and analysis.